

CIVILIPSA's Pratyush Motwani won the Young Scientist Award

Prof. Pratyush Motwani of Civil Engineering Department Institute of Engineering and Science IPS Academy Indore won Young Scientist Award for the paper on “Cost of Delay at Signalized Intersections: A case study of Indore” in 32nd M.P. Young Scientist Congress during 10th - 11th March 2017 held in Vigyan Bhavan, Bhopal. Award was of Rs. 25000/- along with a fellowship for training. Principal Dr. Archana Keerti Chowdhary told this is Fourth year for Institute of Engineering and Science for this award.

Prof. Anjuri Shrivastava of Civil Engineering Department received fellowship for the paper on “Critical Analysis of Building with Vertical Irregularities”